I have great pleasure to announce that the SPSI Thiruvananthapuram Chapter is organizing the second edition of PCYR, the one day seminar "Polymer Conference for Young Researchers exclusively for the Ph.D. research scholars of Polymer Science. This programme was initiated last year by the SPSI, Trivandrum chapter to encourage and mentor research students in the field of polymer science by providing opportunities to present their research findings. We hope that this exercise will help young researchers to sharpen their scientific presentation skill.

I take this opportunity in thanking my colleagues in SPSI-T for their interest and effort in organizing this programme.

I am happy to provide the facility at CSIR-NIIST for conducting PCYR-15 and thank my colleagues in NIIST for their support. I wish all success to the conference and hope that SPSI-T will continue this activity.
